-SO,

WHAT DID YOU LEARN?

I am field of application these so called misunderstandings are not constant because that language under stress is not true

the system is not stable and those walls will crack open we realize that those openings make our tongue grow into voices of a no common language to be heard and articulated speaking
practice
exchange that system of understanding and knowing with speaking and listening and listening for those vibrations touching your skin and moving towards articulation in the body
this building of ours broadcast your ideas through the skin seek new connections for those words and actions search for gaps of soft vibrations in the air coming towards you from all directions and chaos has come upon you as the only possible way to make change there is not only one name for this action
